HUMAN SERVICES TECHNOLOGY

The Human Services Technology curriculum prepares students for entry-level positions in institutions and agencies that provide social, community, and educational services. Along with core courses, students take courses that prepare them for specialization in specific human service areas.

Students will take courses from a variety of disciplines. Emphasis in core courses is placed on development of relevant knowledge, skills, and attitudes in human services. Fieldwork experience will provide opportunities for application of knowledge and skills learned in the classroom.

Graduates should qualify for positions in mental health, child care, family services, social services, rehabilitation, correction, and educational agencies. Former graduates have successfully transferred into select 4-year colleges and universities.

Students may choose to complete more than one degree/concentration. Each degree requires a separate work-based learning experience.

HUMAN SERVICES TECHNOLOGY / GERONTOLOGY

The mission of the Human Services Program is to provide a learning environment that will foster the development of competent human services workers who possess the values and ethics essential for working successfully in the human services profession. Ultimately, they will be prepared to assist individuals, families and communities in meeting their basic needs, overcoming barriers and challenges, maximizing independence, and addressing problems of living; thus enabling others to achieve a sustainable and meaningful quality of life.

The Human Services Technology/Gerontology concentration prepares students to specialize in direct service delivery work to older adults and their families. The curriculum provides both theoretical and applied models for understanding issues of aging. Course work includes physical, psychological, and social aspects of the aging process, as well as health, wellness, nutrition, diet, exercise, and well-being. Fieldwork experiences provide opportunities to work in a variety of public and private agencies. Graduates should qualify for employment in nursing and rest homes, specialized adult care services, respite services, and other programs servicing older adults and their families.
